

NEW EDITION

I think it is important to inform you that this book is a reedition of my first book « A Path to God, between Knowledge and Devotion... » that I wrote in 1998. At that time, it had the title that already appeared in the final chapter of the previous book. This chapter was called « Love is the Key »

You will soon understand that I do not believe in things happening « by chance » nor in « coincidences » in this perfect Universe, beyond my own perceptions at times...

In its « original » version, this book, (and here, « chance » brought things about perfectly) had a print-run of 1008 copies and you will see later, this number is highly symbolic for me !

In fact, this book, which at first was only a manuscript, was for purely material reasons, to be published in only 300 copies.

Nevertheless, as I did not have at that time, the necessary financing to produce it, I proposed to publish it in the form of a « subscription before printing » to my students.

It so happens that 80 of them wanted to purchase it before its publication !

My printer at the time then offered me another type of printing, more economical, and proposed to publish my book not in 300 copies, but 1000.

I therefore accepted his cheaper proposal. He then informed me that, as the machines functioned very quickly, he could not be sure to stop at exactly 1000 copies and offered to throw in the extra copies for free.

He afterwards told me that there were not 1007 nor 1009 copies but « 1008 copies » of this book, which for me was highly significant and symbolic. You will understand this too on reading this book.

In this reedition, I have added just a few pages to the « original » version to explain why I often use the past tense.

In fact, a book, famous since the dawn of time, starts with these words : « In the beginning was the Word... and the Word was with God...and the Word was God ».

Words are therefore for me extremely creative and we should thus « watch » and be « aware » of their power and their creative potential.

This is why I often talk of my experiences in the past.

I recall a very beautiful play on words : « Do you know why Angels Fly ? » and the magnificent answer is « Because they take things « Lightly ».

And « Light » is indeed « Light ».

Therefore, people who meet me can sometimes have a first impression that I take things « lightly and with a lot of humour »; which is for me EXTREMELY important if someone wishes to get rid of a pathology he no longer wants.

I therefore take them « lightly »...

I feel it is important that I express myself about this subject in future books.

I have also added some lines at the end to inform you on how I have evolved since, as some readers were curious to know more...

FOREWORD

Writing has never seemed easy to me but it is now important that I should tell you about myself... For you and for me...

A wonderful process is unfolding nowadays and I think that we all go through our lives for a reason which is both personal and collective ...

All the experiences that life presents us are opportunities which allow us to discover ourselves. They therefore have a great teaching value for ourselves and also for those around us. That is why I think it would be selfish of me to keep all these to myself as I deeply believe that they could be useful...

It so happens that life « presented » me with something I can now call a gift, even though at the time it seemed poisoned to me, in every sense of the word !

I received a great shock when, more than twelve years ago, I learned I had been HIV positive since the age of 19... Nevertheless, the wonderful transformations this triggered in me allow me to consider this in a totally different way and to know that it was actually perfect to me to go through this experience...

The personal choice that I made from the beginning, to take no medication, but instead to search for answers within, seems, after more than 20 years without medication, to have been beneficial...

But mostly, beyond the fact I now feel great, the wonderful experiences I was able to have and will continue to have because of this disruption seem now to be actually the only reason for which I had to go through being HIV positive. I am now filled with gratitude to God, whose reality appears to me more and more, for all the gifts He has given me, is giving to me, will give me.

I know that the word God, can sometimes be misunderstood and even seem shocking to some of you, because of associations and/or experiences you have had with this word, this concept. So, if this word shocks you, feel at ease to replace it by an other each time I use it.

It would be a shame to pass by experiences that could really revolutionize your life simply because of a three-letter word.

Don't we say the God is Love? Therefore, if this seems true to you, each time I use the word God, understand Love instead.

But may be, the word Life, or Universe, seem more appropriate to you. Know that in the end, this does not matter very much.

For me, the only word that it seems right to use is the word God even though I can understand it might be different for you. Every word being by nature limitative, it seems to me that "God" is the only word that can conceptualize the consciousness I am now in relation with.

Besides, if God is omnipresent, it is obvious that he is also in the deepest part of me, which means the essence of life animating me. Therefore, each time I use this word, know that I am referring to that part of me.

Finally, anyway, it does not really matter.

I hope my experience can inspire you too, being HIV positive or not, to help you transform your life, and why not, to become always closer to Him, to that consciousness, which is, I believe, the source, the cause and the solution of Everything.

I know that the knowledge or that the understanding of our nature can greatly help us to heal a pathology or a situation. I now know, through my own experiences, that the reality of God, of our Divine nature and of our confident surrender to this energy can accomplish the very same effects....

I can only tell you, that for me, (and may be for you, too), that the fact of having a new rational understanding of spiritual truths or of the functioning of my own consciousness helped me to built a bridge between the situation I was living and the one I wanted to live instead, between my reality and His.

Nevertheless, don't forget there are many bridges and do not be attached to any one of them.

I would like now to share with you my experience on a particular bridge which is situated somewhere between knowledge and devotion...

Go through this book as a testimony, but beyond the words, draw from it the strength that is necessary for transformation.

I know that is not by chance that you now have this testimony in your hands. Each moment, each experience we go through holds a gift of God.

May you, beyond the outer packaging, recognize the Sender of this gift and feel His Divine presence.

I pray Him now (although at the same time, I know it is not really necessary) , to fill you to overflowing with his grace, as He has always done, as He is doing right now, and will always do.

Having for more than ten years taught techniques for improvement of eyesight and vision, I could put this in a more precise way : May be it would be more appropriate to wish simply that He open your eyes so that you may see the real perfection in each of your experiences.

This is what I will try to share with you and to explain to you throughout this book.

But, may be for you, God does not exist, or he seems inaccessible to you, or the only thing that you believe in is simply yourself (which is a very good thing, by the way). In that case, you could now consciously choose to look in a new way ...to see in a new way.

In fact, everything is already present, complete and perfect, here and now, waiting only for that little “click” in us to manifest in all its splendor

Did not Jesus tell us that we all have eyes to see ¹ ?

Have we really used them ?

¹ « ... Having eyes, see ye not? and having ears, hear ye not? ». Marc 8:18

I know that a different way of looking can change many things and I hope to give you the desire to develop for yourself, this new way of looking that will allow you to see anew.

This consciousness we call God has always been beside us. Only we did not see it. So, open your eyes...

Wake up and open your eyes. Your new way of looking will transform you.

I will simply share with you some of parts of my life, moments, realizations, and emotions which have led me to the wonderful realization that God exists, that He loves me, and that He is the Cause and Answer to Everything.

And even though I need to remind myself of it, I KNOW that beyond my perception of appearances, All is well.

All is well.

All is well.

All is well.
